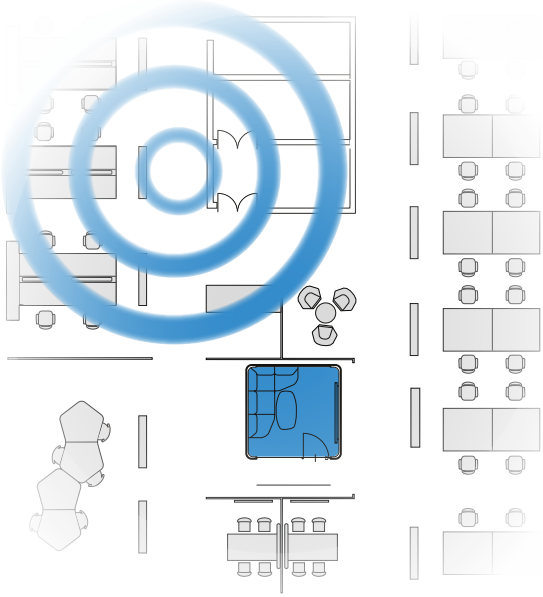
Acoustic can be a challenge for open space



Open-plan offices are becoming more and more common today. Noise and the lack of possibilities to retreat cause distraction and inefficiency at work.

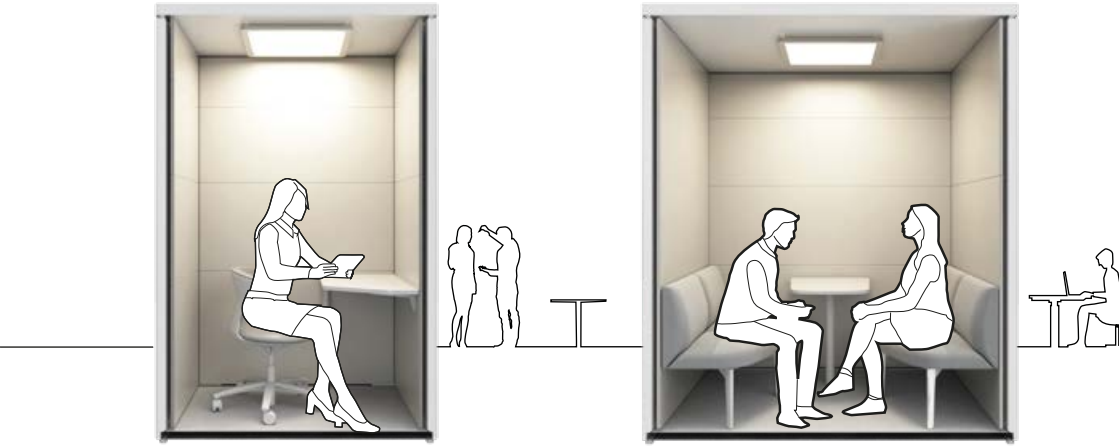
This leads to an increasing demand for spaces to work in silence.

se:cube

A PLACE TO RETREAT...

A place where you can work alone or make phone calls in complete silence. Moreover, the se:cube provides optimum acoustic shielding from the surrounding working environment in both directions.

A place to meet and have a talk with colleagues without being distracted from outside noise nor creating acoustical interference with colleagues working in the office.



to CONCENTRATE

to COMMUNICATE

A noise-protected place to have meetings and short effective brainstorming sessions with colleagues.

A place to contemplate and to retreat. Here it is possible to relax for a moment and to regenerate before taking up the next work session.
